

Henry had a bad cold the last time I heard from him, tho' he tho't it was going off - he was very hoarse from speaking so much.
 In every place he visits, he finds at least one order upon the free thought & slavery, & one on Worcester's cause. It is cheering to me to know that when he is obliged to visit our shores - a de-cor has been raised up in G. W. M. - one who will be able to water the seed which he has sown.

With sincere affection to William - I am very truly your friend
 E. J. Percie
 How does the dear little Kate thrive?

Henry has just heard? He can't but receive some & doubt whether he will be able to leave it before the middle or end of the summer - but he is strong & well well - as you will see by the paper - both in case covered & strong relation that they will not remain in connection with the free thought - if the same holds true is not William. I have looked these papers up in this

For Remembrance of the 19th Decr
 John Lloyd Garrison
 25 Cornhill
 Boston
 Massachusetts
 E. J. P.

RECEIVED
 JAN 16 1845
 AMY 16
 1845
 OCT 2

NOV 17 1844

31 Elizabeth Pease to W. L. Garrison.

GARRISON
MSS.

Barnington May 16. 1848

My dear Friend

My friend George Wilson Mr. Cree has assigned me a pleasant office in committing the enclosed letter to my care, for transmission to thee. It will be no doubt an all sufficient introduction as he tells me he has written with the freedom & affection of an old friend - from it thou wilt learn that he is a true & thoroughgoing advocate of peace principles & a warm friend to the Anti Slavery cause & a zealous admirer of my self-sacrificing labours in both these noble enterprises. By a private hand I have enclosed a copy of his Tracts on Peace for thee & the same with a letter from himself, to Adin Ballou - to the care of Wendell Phillips. I have also enclosed a note to myself, containing an envelope to thee respecting a little vol. of songs which he is intending to publish.

The "Liberators" have just come in. See many things that look very interesting, but I have not yet had time to read them; - that which I am most anxious to know about, I fear, I shall not find mentioned, viz the state of thy health - a notice in the paper not long ago respecting being obliged to discontinue lecturing made me fear it was worse again. I wish our friend W. L. & myself could both be prevailed upon to take more care & thought for self - there seems a kind of ambition in men like you to die martyrs to the good cause - which is not what either the Slave or the Slaves friends desire. Is it not providential that